>Flipping her ponytail, ChloÃ© looked around at everyone with pure arrogance. She began walking through the school halls, hips swaying and her nose in the air. She stalked into the small ground of her school, lifeless blue eyes shining on seeing Adrien.

But her eyes narrowed when she saw that the idiot Marinette was talking to Adrien.

Her Adrien.

She quickly bolted forward, slamming Marinette into the wall before she batted her eyelashes. "Hello, Adrikins~" ChloÃ© sang, ignoring how Adrien worriedly looked over at Marinette.

"I've missed you so much, love." ChloÃ© continued, "How about me and yoâ€œ"

She didn't complete her sentence when Adrien cut her off with a slap.

ChloÃ© placed a hand over her cheek which was throbbing in pain, staring at the blonde. "Adrikins, why'd yoâ€œ"

But she was cut off with another slap. In the next few minutes, Adrien slapped Chloë over a five times before he punched her in her ugly thick make up face.

The punch sent Chloë falling backwards into the playground.

"Get lost, Chloë." Adrien snarled, moving towards Marinette.

Chloë stared then began screaming death threats at Marinette but she quietened when Sabrina walked over to her. "Pull me up, Sabrina!" Chloë ordered in her annoying voice.

Sabrina scowled, "This is for turning me into the Vanisher!" She kicked Chloë in the stomach.

Releasing a painful scream, Chloë clutched her stomach. Soon her eyes met Nathanael who gave her a glare, "This is for turning me into the Evillustrator!"

He kicked her in the chest.

Again, Chloë began screaming in agony, clutching her aching curves when Kim came at her left. "This is for making me into Dark Cupid!" He shouted, kicking her in the shoulder.

Chloë started her ear bleeding shrieking again, not noticing how Ayla stood in front of her, hatred in her eyes. "This is for turning me into Lady WiFi!" She kicked Chloë's crotch.

Everyone ignored her screaming, gathering around her and kicking her with their feet. After getting tired of that, they began spitting on her evil form. Then a flock of pigeons flew above Chloë, pooping on her.

Chloë screamed, her face red with anger but began choking as a pigeon's poop landed in her mouth.

"Daddy!" Chloë screamed, running towards her father who came out of nowhere. "Look, what they all did to me, Daddy! You should all sentence them to death!"

The mayor rolled his eyes, pushing her balling form away from himself. "I want to tell you something, Chloë. You're not my daughter. I found you lying in a garage sale so I bought you in five cents."

Chloë's jaw fell to the floor.

"That there is your real feather." The mayor pointed to a mysterious guy in a black cloak.

Chloë didn't waste any time running towards him, "Daddy!" She shrieked, throwing her arms around the mysterious guy in the black cloak. "You've gotta sentence all of them to death!"

But she paused, staring with wide eyes as the cloak was pulled back and the devil stood in front of her. "Oh, yeah," The devil scratched his red horns, "You're my daughter that I was gonna throw in hell but sold you in a garage sale 'cause I needed money. 'Come on, 'ol daughter of mine. Let's send you back where you came from."

The devil took Chloë to hell and threw her in it as she screamed in pure pain and agony before dying.

After it, no one was ever akumatized and everyone lived happily ever after.

The end.
